They're From The Wrong Part Of Town...

The city of Spring Hill is a wealthy community made up almost entirely of upper-class residents. There is however, a small section of town known as the Southside, where the city's blue-collar workers live. They are "allowed" to live in Spring Hill only because the rich folks need "grunts" to handle undesirable jobs. While "Southsiders," as they are called, can travel to and from their jobs, they are frowned upon if they trek outside of their own territory for social or personal reasons.

The Southside is a melting-pot of good, hard-working people. Living in the "bad" part of town their only sense of pride is the fact that their high school, Southside High, regularly thrashes the city's three other high schools in all sport events—a constant embarrassment and a thorn in the side of the "Hillers" as they are known to the Southsiders. After Southside High won the track championship, the Hillers challenged the Southsiders to live no-holds-barred events, and now it is up to you to captain your team to victory.

After choosing game mode, use the same process to select the number of players. In Practice mode, you will not be asked to choose number of players, as only one player can participate in Practice.

In Short Tournament mode, select the 3 events in which you would like to participate. In Practice mode, select 1 event. If you chose Normal Tournament mode, you will not be asked to select events, as you will be required to play them all.

Team Selection Menu

Each player should select his or her favorite team by pressing Control Pad UP or DOWN to highlight one of the four teams and then pressing A BUTTON. Any teams not selected by human players will be controlled by the computer. For a complete description of each team see the Teams section of this manual.

Player Selection Menu

Prior to each event you will be allowed to choose 1 of the 5 players on your team to participate in that event. It is up to you, as the manager of the team, to choose the team member best suited to each event. Each team member has different strengths and attributes, as described below. Select the player you want by pressing Control Pad LEFT or RIGHT to highlight him and then pressing A BUTTON.

The screenshot shows a menu titled "Which player do you select?". It lists five players with their respective icons, names, and stats. Labels on the left point to specific parts of the menu:

- Player Names: Points to the player names at the top of the table.
- HP-Hit Points: Points to the HP row in the stats table.
- Power: Points to the POWER row in the stats table.
- Speed: Points to the SPEED row in the stats table.
- Defense: Points to the DEFENSE row in the stats table.

Player Names

Each team is comprised of 5 players. For full description of the teams, see the Teams Section of this manual.

HP—Hit Points

HP represents a player's total strength. On this menu, this item shows a player's current HP followed by his maximum possible HP. In tournament mode, HP is worn down during events by fatigue and/or damage inflicted by competitors. Once a player's HP reaches zero, he is unable to participate in any more events. That's why it's unwise to use just one player for every event. It is possible, however, to increase a player's HP by shopping at the Health Food Store.

Power

Power rating reflects how much damage a player can inflict on competitors.

Speed

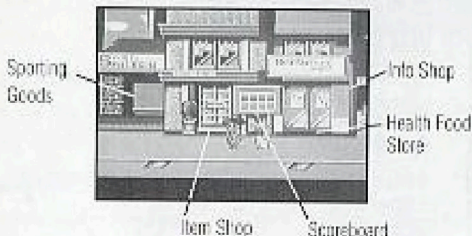

This rating shows how fast the player can run.

Defense

Indicates how well the player protects himself against competitors.

At The Mall

You can shop to increase your player's HP and power for the upcoming event, buy performance-hyping equipment, or get advice. To enter any of the stores, move the characters into the doorway using the Control Pad. After all your shopping is done, move the characters all the way to the left end of the screen to begin the next event.

THE EVENTS

400-M Hurt-les

The objective, of course, is to reach the finish line first. You can break through, jump over, or go underneath the hurdles. However, players can cheat on the way to the finish line. You can pick up a piece of a broken hurdle and throw it at your opponent. Or you can kick him during the race. You can also pick up medals along the way for extra buying power.

The bottom of the game screen lists:

- The names of the two players racing
- Both players' current HP
- The running time-clock
- A position indicator to let you know how far along the track you are

Hammer-Throw Golf:

The object of this event is to put the hammer in the hole in as few shots as possible.

Along the way, there are sand bunkers, rough, and water hazards.

When the hammer lands in the sand bunker or the rough, it is difficult to get a good throw off. And if you splash into a water hazard, you'll be penalized an extra stroke. You can pick up bonus medals along the course by hitting them with the hammer.

The bottom of the game screen lists:

- The player's name
- The player's current HP
- Distance of current throw
- Distance remaining to the hole
- Total number of strokes
- The Power Bar

Water Slaughter

In this event, the loser is the first to lose all his HP. HP decreases whenever the player runs out of air underwater. Pay attention to the Oxygen Meter at the bottom of the screen—it indicates how much air you have. There are a couple of ways of decreasing your opponent's air: You can ride on his back on the surface of the water or you can sneak up on him and pull him underwater. But the quickest and most effective way to drown him is to kick him while underwater. If you get the chance, you can also pick up medals at the bottom of the pool as they come by. If neither player has lost all of his HP before the 3-minute clock expires, then the player with the most HP remaining will be the winner.

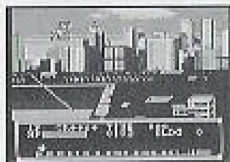

The bottom of the game screen lists:

- The players' names
- Each player's current HP
- Each player's Oxygen Meter
- The running 3-minute clock

Skyline Scramble

This is the most dangerous of all the events. The winner is the one who can reach the finish line in the fastest time. Or in cases where no one finishes, the one who can jump over the most buildings before running out of Rebounds is named the winner. Each player is given 3 Rebounds at the beginning of each race (You can buy more in the Sporting Goods Store!). When you fall off a rooftop, you will lose a Rebound. You can go from roof-to-roof by either pole vaulting, riding the unicycle or jumping. Along the way you can pick up bonus medals just by touching them. In addition there are a couple of bottles of Power Drink to enhance your performance.

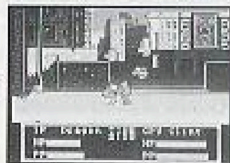

The bottom of the game screen lists:

- The player's name
- The player's current HP
- The running time-clock
- Remaining Rebounds
- Number of buildings cleared
- A position indicator to let you know how far along the course you are

Judo

This is a 1-on-1 Judo match. The object is to wipe out your opponent's HP. If neither player runs out of HP before the 3-minute clock expires, then the player with the most HP will be named the winner. Your opponent's HP will be reduced every time you can bring his Punch Power Bar to zero. Kicks, punches, shoulder tackles, jump kicks will all decrease his Punch Power Bar. But the most damage will come when you land the Special Moves your player has in his arsenal. Pound on your opponent enough and he'll cough-up some of his medals, which you can steal for yourself. In addition, there are four medals in the corners of the school yard that you can pick up.

The bottom of the game screen lists:

- The players' names
- Each player's current HP
- Each player's Punch Power Bar
- The running 3-minute clock

TOURNAMENT PLAY

The Medal Chase

In Tournament Play, the object is to have more medals than all the other teams after 5 events (or 3 events in Short Tournament Mode). Medals are awarded for each of the events as follows:

First Place:	15 Gold
Second Place:	5 Gold
Third Place:	1 Gold
Fourth Place:	5 Silver
Fifth Place:	5 Bronze

In addition, the team with the most impressive individual performance during the event will be awarded a bonus of 5 Gold Medals. In head-to-head competitions the first place team will not necessarily be the one that is awarded the bonus 5 Gold Medals. It is based on the best individual performance in the event.

Remember, every medal you spend in the stores is taken away from your overall team pool. You must weigh the value of spending your medals to win more versus the risk of spending and not winning.

Individual Events

There are two individual events in Street Challenge: Hammer Throw Golf and The Skyline Scramble. In these two events, all the human players will take a turn. They will then get to watch one computer-controlled player take a turn. After this, the scores—lowest number of shots in Hammer Throw Golf and fastest time/most buildings in Skyline Scramble—will be ranked to determine the order of finish and the number of medals awarded to each team.

Head-to-Head Events

In the remaining Head-to-Head events—Hurl-les, Water Slaughter and Judo—the rankings are determined differently. Each player will have at least two "heats" during the event, and one player will have three. Here's how head-to-head events work:

Obviously Team Thornley has a decided advantage in the overall medal race, since they can finish no worse than second place in head-to-head events. But that's part of what makes winning it all that much more rewarding.

The Awards Ceremony

Following completion of all the events, the medal count will be tallied and the top 3 teams will take their place on the winner's stand. In addition, certain players will be recognized for outstanding individual effort and performance.

THE TEAMS

Southside High

Team Captain: "Crash" Cooney

Southside High is lead by Jeff "Crash" Cooney, the greatest athlete in the school's history. Son of an Irish brick-layer, Cooney is an honest, much-admired leader. All of the well-to-do girls from the three other high schools idolize the wreckless abandon with which Crash takes on, and usually wins, any competitive challenge—much to the dismay of the Hillers.

Team Members

"Cheese" Romano

26

Cooney's best friend, Rico Romano is the son of an Italian garbage collector. Aside from the obvious reference to his last name, Rico is simply known as "Cheese" because he is always smiling. While "Cheese" thinks he is a ladies man, most of the girls tolerate his ego only because he is friends with Crash.

"Sting Ray" Garcia

Ramon Garcia has been taunted from childhood by all the Hillers. An angry kid, Ramon turned to boxing at an early age—naming himself Sting Ray—and dreams of capturing Olympic Gold for the U.S.A.

"Dragon" Woo

Small, quiet and reserved, Tommy Woo is a devout student of the martial arts—philosophically as well as physically. Born in the year of the "Dragon," his nickname is his constant reminder of his heritage and his upbringing.

"Noise" Jackson

Most people don't know that Troy Jackson is his real name—they just call him "Noise." He is the son of Spring Hill's only Black lawyer who makes it his life's work to take on the establishment. Like his Dad, "Noise" is loud, outspoken and taunts the Hillers every chance he gets.

Conceited, Brash and ego-centric, Todd is the only son of Spring Hill's oldest and wealthiest family. Thornley Industries owns EVERYTHING. Todd is the student body president and star athlete of Washington High, the most elite of the three high schools attended by the Hillers. Todd lives to win the heart of Penelope Worthington, who loves "Crash" Cooney but keeps it quiet because she knows their relationship could never fly in Spring Hill.

Although his father is the Mayor of Spring Hill, Arthur could not get into Washington and was forced to attend Lincoln, which usually stomps Washington under Arthur's leadership. He does not hide his distaste for Thornley and Washington. But his rivalry with fellow Hillers is completely erased when it comes to the Southsiders. Van Smythe hates them all—particularly Noise, who has called him "Artie Choke" ever since Van Smythe missed two free-throws in the final seconds of last year's basketball championship.
